

Your Voice

YOUR VOICE

We think it is important and pleasant to communicate with our customers. We also encourage the exchange of experiences, thoughts, ideas and pictures by owners of Magrette products.

That's why we offer two possibilities to communicate openly:

- The Guestbook: leave a message. Meant for all messages that don't require an answer.

- The forum (registration required): share experiences with other visitors, discuss with each other, show your favorite picture of your watch etc. Also we will be there on a regular basis and perhaps share with you our future models. English is the language of choice so that anyone can participate. Register yourself as new user at the left-hand-side of this text or log in to join the discussion!

Unfortunately it appears necessary to have terms of use for this kind of forum. Our's follow below:

Terms of Use Forum

The administrators and moderators of this forum will try to delete unwanted material from this site as soon as possible. It is however impossible to check every message. By agreeing to these terms of use you acknowledge that all messages on this forum are the opinions and point of views from the users and not of the administrators, moderators or webmaster (except for messages posted by these). The administrators cannot be made liable for the contents of users' messages.

You further acknowledge that you will not submit harming, obscene, vulgar, defamatory, rancorous, threatening, sexually oriented messages. Furthermore you will adhere to all applicable laws and rules. If you will not abide to these terms of use or if you do not follow directions of the administrators, you can be banned directly and permanently and your service provider might be notified of your behaviour. The IP address of your computer is stored with every message to simplify the usage of the site. Further the system will save cookies onto your computer. These cookies contain no users' information that are stored in the profile. By using the forum you agree that the above mentioned data is stored. This information will not be submitted to third parties without your permission. The administrators of this forum are not liable for attempts to hack as a result of getting access to these data.

The administrators of this site have the right to delete, edit, move all messages and have the right to close topics and forums when they think this is appropriate. The e-mail address you will provide will only be used to verify your account and password and to send a new password if you will forget your password.

By using this forum you will accept these terms of use and you confirm that your age is 13 or above.